About 6 o'clock yesterday there was serious assault committed in a vacant house, No. 119 Kentucky avenue, the victim being a painter named William Taylor. Three men committed the assault, using banister rods on his head. The injured man was left for dead by his assailants. but he managed to crawl from the house to the rear steps, and there his groans were heard by a man who lives in the neighborhood. Word was sent to the police, and when the patrol wagon arrived Taylor was unconscious. He was taken to Providence Hospital, where he soon showed signs of improvement. This morning the patient was much better, although the cuts on his head are very painful. It is thought that the injured man knows who asseulted him. the injured man knows who assaulted him, and will have them arrested when he is able to appear in court.

MADE A GOOD HAUL

Hotel Sneak Thief Gets Money, Jewelry Does not depend on the will power of the user. It is the Cure. Vegetable and

Victim of a Clever Professional

Burglars and sneak thieves who belong to the professional class have let this city seversly alone for several weeks, until Wednesday night, when the room of Representative Grove Johnson of California was visited by one of the light-fingered gentry, who made a good haul. The Californian and his family have occupied a suite of rooms in the Cochran Hotel during the present session of Congress, and Wednesday evening between 6 and 7 o'clock, while the members of the family were at dinner, the sneak thief entered and made the haul. When the Congressman went to dinner he left the trunk, as well as the door of the room, securely fastened, and he found them fastened when he returned. There was nothing about the room to arouse suspicion or indicate that an intruder had been there. But later in the night, when a member of the family had occasion to go to the trunk for something, the discovery was made that a thief had been there, and had taken cash, jewelry, and securities aggregating more than $2,500. A telephone message was sent to police headquarters, and a detective was soon at the hotel to make an investigation. Yester-day morning another detective was called in, and the entire force is row looking for the man, who is undoubtedly a professional sneak. The result of the investigation by the police was the sending out of a descriptive circular, offering a liberal reward for the arrest of the thief and the recovery of the property stolen or any portion thereof. The Stolen Property.

The property described in the circular is as follows: Gold hunting case watch, No 24599, F. H. Mathez make, gold fob chain attached; cost $175. Lady's ring, set with three large diamonds; cost $500. Lady's diamond ring; cost $25. Garnet set of jewelry; cost $10. Plain gold wedding ring. very old, initials worn off; pair of hair bracelets, with gold clasps; old gold watch, bracelets, with gold clasps; old gold watch, key winder; $428 in greenbacks, a $20 gold plece and certificates of deposit on Onio National Bank amounting to $1,450.

The circular also says that the property was stolen by a hotel thief, who registered as J. H. Willetts, New York, fifty to fifty-five years old, five feet eight or nine inches tall, 150 or 160 pounds weight, medium build, gray hair and mustache, short gray whiskers slightly parted in the middle, small features, light complexion, quick movements; wore a black derby hat, dark movements; wore a black derby hat, dark clothes, light-weight overcoat, looks and dresses like a business man.

Who'this man Willetts is the police do not know. He reached here Wednesday afternoon, and rode to the hotel in a conch in which Inspector McLaughlin was also seated, but the police official, who knows most of the prominent crooks, did not recognize him.

Wednesday evening, a few minutes after the robbery was committed, the suspected man paid his bill and left the hotel. The Suspected Guest. About the hotel the guest who is not suspected of having committed the robbery said he had come to see the Brazilian minister on some business. He was as signed to room 129, and chambermaids in the hotel say they saw a man answering his description going down one floor to another about the time the robbery was Detectives Horne and Rhodes, who are especially assigned to the case, are en-deavoring to learn something more of the man's identity, and the printed circulars

mentioned above have been sent to the police departments of other cities. AFFAIRS IN GEORGETOWN.

Local Notes of Interest From Acros Notice has been given by the committee on church property of the West Street Presbyterian Church that on September the Presbyterian Church cemetery, between 33d and 34th, Q and R streets, will be finally abolished. All bodies must be removed by that date, and if the friends of the deceased do not take some action the church will attend to the removal and enter them in ore grave in some cemetery. The committee of the church in charge of the matter is Levin S. Frey, William M. Dougal and H. P. Gilbert. The cemetery at the present time is in a very dilapidated condition. Many of the bodies have been removed, in fact, almost all bodies the relatives or friends of which are living. Mos of the remains in the cemetery at the present time will have to be removed at the expense of the church, as no relatives of the deceased are living. The desecration of the cemetery is now complete, and vandals have carried off most of the valuable movable things in the place. The wooden headboards have been used for firewood or fence boards, and even the bricks of some of the tombs have been carted away. Fire Today. A fire was discovered this morning about half-past 10 o'clock in the two-story frame dwelling at 1714 33d street, occupied by Samuel Blackman. No alarm was turned in because of the fact that the engines could not be communicated with by tele phone in time to respond to put out the blaze. Policeman Ward and several other people managed to extinguish the blaze without much damage. The fire was started by children playing with matches.

Notes. Sergt. Haney returned to duty this morning, after an illness of some days. "Stations of the Way of the Cross" will be recited this evening at Trinity Church.

Mr. Eugene Davis of Q street, who has been quite sick, is convalescing.

THE WIFE WINS. Judge Cox Grants Mrs. Franz a Divorce and Alimony.

Judge Cox today disposed of the long pending divorce case of Charles F. L. Franz against Marletta A. Franz, by dismissing Mr. Franz's petition and granting Mrs. Franz a divorce on her cross bill. The court also awarded her the care and custody of their minor children, Grace and Stuart, charging their father with their maintenance. The judge ordered Mr. Franz, who is said to be employed in the government printing office, to pay Mrs. Franz $25 a month, the costs of the suit, and $50 counsel fees. Mr. Franz filed his petition for divorce Mr. Franz filed his petition for divorce September 21, 1834, stating that they were married at the Episcopal Orphan Asylum, Petersburg, Va., April 24, 1867, Mrs. Franz's mailen name being Vaden. They lived together until June 19, 1888, when, he charged, Mrs. Franz willfully deserted and alarmed him Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the property of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. Franz filed a gross of the charged by Mrs. abandoned 1 im. Mrs. Franz filed a cross bill September 29, 1834, denying that she had deserted and abandoned her husband. On the contrary, she said, she was forced to leave him because of his cruelty and abuse, which, she allexed, commenced shortly after their marriage, and was continued until she left him, June 19, 1888. Her charges were in turn denied by Mr. Franz, who retorted by charging his wife with being an immoral woman, and with having an undue thirst for beer. Those charges she denied, and a great mass of testimony was taken in the case with the result above stated. Mrs. Franz complained, too, that while her husband is the own-er of several parcels of real estate and receives a good salary, she was forced to support nerself and children. She also stated that she would have returned to he husband had she been sufficiently urged by him to so do, explaining that while they lived apart he often visited her, inviting her to accompany him to places of amuse-ment, which invitations she several times
